

Instructor: Date:

Learner: Regional Branch:

Program: Center:

CONTENT

- Let's Start! • Let's Explore! • Let's Practice! • Extension Activity • Target Words • Learning Points

Let's Start!

Let's talk about famous people.

Learning Outcome

Understands actions, events, and experiences in present, past or future and in spoken or written texts and in work and social contexts.

Ask your partner:

- Who is your favorite celebrity? Why?
- Which celebrities do you dislike? Why?

Can Do Statements

- I can talk about relationships, character traits, beliefs and opinions.
- I can talk about when and where something was done.
- I can say what happened or what has happened.

Let's Explore!

I am working 24/7 to get the project ready by the deadline.

* To work "24/7" means to work 24 hours a day, seven days a week: all the time.

Instructions: Read the text aloud.

- Amy: This is an amazing place you picked, Vanessa.
Vanessa: Thanks.
Amy: Excuse me. I have to take this call.
Peter: Until we meet again, I'll be waiting.
Vanessa: Things seem to be going well.
Peter: They are. We're having a lot of fun together. By the way, can I borrow $20?
Vanessa: You still owe me $20 dollars from a month ago.
Peter: Once I get paid, I will write you a check.
Vanessa: Right. Say, look at that crowd of people over there. Isn't that Tom Brandy the quarterback of the Boston professional football team?
Peter: Yep. There's his supermodel wife Ginelle too. Man, what an entourage! There must be 20 people in that group. Look at the staff falling over themselves to serve them. It's unseemly.
Vanessa: Major athletes are popular wherever they go.
Peter: But in Boston it's worse!
Vanessa: It's a big sports town.
Peter: I want to go where they are not talking football 24/7. Anywhere I go in Boston it's football, football, football.
Vanessa: People will stop talking football as soon as the season is over.
Amy: What did I miss?
Peter: You missed seeing the great Tom Brandy.
Amy: Oh, I love Tom Brandy. He is so handsome and suave. Have you met any famous athletes, Vanessa? You must have met some, right?
Vanessa: Oh, yeah. I've met some alright.
Peter: Who's the worst?
Vanessa: I can't say who the worst are specifically, but some are very self-entitled. Once, I had one group come in and refuse to pay. They thought since they were sports stars the bill would be free.
Amy: What did you do?
Vanessa: I got their handlers to pay.
Amy: Nice. Who are the best?
Vanessa: I've heard various stories from my servers, but generally, the best sports athletes are the hockey players.
Amy & Peter: Really?
Vanessa: Yeah, they always come in and eat pasta before a game. They may look like hooligans with their faces battered and bruised, but they are always gentlemen. They dress well and they tip the best. I've had the best experiences with them.
Peter: Yeah! Well, too bad their teams stinks!
Amy: Peter. You are incorrigible.

Let's Practice!

Peter, Amy and Vanessa chat about the sport's culture in Boston.

Instructions: Match the highlighted words in the sentences from Column A with their corresponding definitions in Column B.

COLUMN A

1. It's unseemly.
2. I can't say who the worst are specifically, but some are very self-entitled.
3. They may look like hooligans with their faces battered and bruised, but they are always gentleman.
4. You are incorrigible.
5. The best sports athletes are the hockey players.
6. He is so handsome and suave.
7. We're having a lot of fun together.
8. There's his supermodel wife Ginelle too. Man, what an entourage!

COLUMN B

- a. not able to be corrected
- b. not appropriate
- c. charming, confident and elegant
- d. trouble maker.
- e. believing oneself to be inherently deserving of privileges
- f. a group of people surrounding an important person
- g. enjoyment
- h. a person who is trained in sports

Let's Practice!

The trio* talks about where and when things happen.

*A Trio is a group of three people.

Instructions: Use the words from the box to correctly complete the sentences. Read the sentences aloud. Check your pronunciation with your instructor.

Word Bank

where / once / wherever / until we / before / wherever / anywhere I go.

1. Major athletes are popular _____ they go.
2. Yeah, they always come in and eat pasta _____ a game.
3. I want to go _____ they are not talking football 24/7.
4. _____ I get paid, I will write you a check.
5. _____ in Boston it's football, football, football.
6. _____ meet again, I will be waiting.
7. I see the same people _____ I go.

Extension Activity

Conduct an exclusive interview with a celebrity.

Instructions: Complete the following steps. Fill in the Self-Assessment.

- With a partner, brainstorm some famous celebrities you would like to meet.
- Imagine you are conducting an interview.
- Create 10 questions to ask your celebrity.
- Role play the part of interviewer while your partner answers as the celebrity.
- What personality traits will the celebrity have? Switch roles.
- Perform the role play for the class.

Self-Assessment

Yes

No

I brainstorm different celebrities.

☐ ☐

I write interview questions.

☐ ☐

I role play the part of interviewer and celebrity.

☐ ☐

I take on the perceived personality of the celebrity.

☐ ☐

I perform the role play.

☐ ☐

Target Words

- quarterback (noun): in football, a player positioned behind the center who directs a team's offensive play e.g. Isn't that Tom Brandy the quarterback of the Boston professional football team?
- supermodel (noun): a fashion model who has reached the status of a celebrity e.g. There's his supermodel wife, Ginelle, too.
- entourage (noun): a group of people attending or surrounding an important person e.g. Man, what an entourage!
- unseemly (adjective): not appropriate
e.g. It's unseemly.
- suave (adjective): charming, confident, and elegant e.g. He is so handsome and suave.
- self entitled (adjective): believing oneself to be inherently deserving of privileges or special treatment e.g. I can't say who the worst are specifically, but some are very self-entitled.
- handler (noun): people who handle or deal with certain articles or commodities e.g. I got their handlers to pay.
- hooligan (noun): trouble maker
e.g. They may look like hooligans with their faces battered and bruised, but they are always gentleman.
- incorrigible (adjective): not able to be corrected, improved, or reformed e.g. You are incorrigible.

Learning Points

Adverbial Clauses: Time and Place

An adverbial clause is a group of words which plays the role of an adverb. You can use adverbial clauses to be precise about time and place.

An adverb of time states when something happens or how often.

An adverbial clause of time often starts with one of the following subordinating conjunctions: after, as, as long as, as soon as, before, no sooner than, since, until, when, or while.

For example:

After the game finished, we all went out for drinks. Drop by my house as soon as you've finished your homework.

An adverb of place states where something happens. An adverbial clause of place often starts with a preposition (e.g., in, on, near) or one of the following subordinating conjunctions: anywhere, everywhere, where, or wherever.

For example:

In a galaxy far, far away, there lived a young boy. I like to meet new people wherever I go.

Examples:

- Major athletes are popular wherever they go.
- Until we meet again, I will be waiting.
- Once I get paid, I will write you a check.
- I see the same people wherever I go.
- Major athletes are popular wherever they go.
- Anywhere I go in Boston it's football, football, football.
- People will stop talking football as soon as the season is over.
- They always come in and eat pasta before a game.

Learning Points

The Simple Past vs. The Present Perfect

When you use time clauses stating with after, when, until, as soon as, once, and by the time, the Simple Past refers to past time and the Present Perfect refers to future events.

You often hear the Present Perfect being used to introduce recent events and then the Simple Past is used to give details.

For example: The space shuttle has reached the space station safely. It delivered fresh supplies to the astronauts living there.

Past	After she left the building, she remembered to get her dry cleaning.
------	---

Future	After she has left the building, she will be going to get her dry cleaning.
--------	--

Examples:

- I've heard various stories from my servers, I've met some alright.
- Have you met any famous athletes?
- You must have met some, right?
- I had one group come in and refuse to pay.
- They thought since they were sports stars the bill would be free.
- I have taken a celebrity's order before.
- You missed seeing the great Tom Brandy.

